Prosecute and punish lawbreakers to the fullest extent of the law.

How is it giving the Microsoft corporation inroads into the only market they do not totally dominate is to be construed somehow as punishment?

Renegotiate this JOKE of a settlement.

It's that simple.

Microsoft has, will, and plans to in the future continue crossing the legal limits of acceptable behavior and activity with respect to laws controlling business and commerce.

Please add my names to the list of those who feel the USDOJ settlement is completely unsatisfactory and inadequate in relation to the crimes committed by Microsoft.

Feel free to contact me about these matters and or confirm/authenticate this e-mail.

Yours truly,
